

HORSE PISTOL PLAYS SAD PART IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

Family Quarrel Causes Strife

Fifteen Year Old Son of Wm. Gray Shoots Father Through Body To Protect Mother From Violence.

CAPTURED AT HARDISTY IN BLACKSMITH SHOP

Is Remanded For Eight Days Pending Further Development

The fact that Providence intervened in a miraculous manner, is the only possible reason that William Gray, who lives on the S. W. 16-46-7th, is living today; for the bullet fired from a gun in the hands of his eldest son, Walter, at about 7 a. m. on Thursday morning last only just missed piercing his heart by a very small fraction of an inch. However, under the able care of Drs Little and Middlemas, his life was spared and at this writing, (Tuesday) he is progressing very favorably indeed.

From the information to hand, it appears that early on the morning of the 4th inst., some family trouble arose in the Gray home, and a quarrel ensued between the parents at the table. This eventually culminated in William Gray getting his wife down on the floor, and just at the time this occurred, the boy, Walter, thinking possibly to protect his mother from further violence, rushed into the sleeping apartment of the abode, snatched up an 18 cal. horse pistol which was kept therein, and pointing it in the direction of his father fired a bullet which entered the man's body under the right armpit. The missile passed through both lungs, and just missing the heart by a hair-breadth was stayed in its course under the skin on the opposite side of the victim.

The injured man then followed Walter into the yard, but he dropped within a few feet of the door of the house and laid there until seen by his brother, Walter Gray, who lives on the next farm, and who was fetched by the hired man. When he arrived, the victim arose, and having walked into the house and undressed, was put to bed.

Meanwhile, the lad who did the shooting had jumped upon a horse and ridden to town, where he informed Dr Little that his father (William Gray) was in need of medical attention, but said nothing as to the serious nature of the request.

As soon as the doctor discovered the crime which had been committed, he gave the victim all possible attention and then returned to town and informed Corp'l Wilson, R. N. W. M. F., and information was wired to all surrounding points that the boy was at large. Through these means the lad was noticed at Hardisty where he was getting his horse shod in the blacksmith's shop, and Constable Sinclair of that place immediately placed him under arrest, and after holding the prisoner for instructions brought him to Wainwright on Saturday morning last.

After doing everything possible for the apprehension of the escaping miscreant, Corp'l H. E. Wilson, left for the scene of the shooting, accompanied by Justice of the Peace F. Lush, and Drs Little and Middlemas; and after further medical attention had been given the injured man, his depositions were taken regarding the unfortunate occurrence, and his will was made and signed.

The accused, who is fifteen years of age, was charged with attempt to murder, before Mr. Lush, J. P., on Monday, and remanded to the Mounted Police Barracks for eight days, pending the further recovery of his father, who under the close care of the doctors and Nurse Livingstone is making great strides towards perfect health.

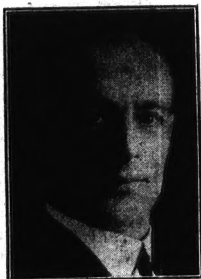

Later, William Gray, who was shot on Thursday last, is getting along nicely, and practically all danger of a fatal termination to the affray is past.

The contractors will soon be ready to put the finishing touches to the new residence being built for Mr. N. S. Kenny, on Fourth Avenue. This structure when completed will prove a noble addition to the many fine residences in our midst.

All Oddfellows are asked to remember that MONDAY night belongs to the order, and govern themselves accordingly. As there is a degree to put on practically every lodge night, come along and assist, and your own interest in the work will be stimulated.

The annual monthly meeting of the Wainwright Branch of the Women's Institute will be held in the Council Chamber at the hour of 2 o'clock on May 13th. Every lady cordially invited to attend and join the institute.

IMPLEMENT WAREHOUSE BEING ERECTED

Messrs Blason & Son are busily engaged with a large staff of helpers on the erection of their new implement warehouse on Second Avenue.

They expect to have the premises completed in the shortest possible time and besides having lines of I. H. C. and McCormick machinery, will carry a large stock of repairs.

REV. H. ASSITER TO RECUPERATE AT HOT SPRINGS

After a stay in town for a period of nearly two years the Rev. H. Assiter, who has been suffering greatly during the past month from an attack of eczema and partial paralysis, will leave town for a stay at the Hot Springs at Banff whither he has been ordered by his medical attendant. Mrs. Assiter will accompany her husband, and during the pastor's absence the services at St. Thomas' (Anglican) church will be conducted by a supply from the college at Saskatoon.

The many friends of Mr. Assiter will join the Star in wishing him a speedy recovery from his affliction, and a speedy return to Wainwright fully restored to health.

A pleasant time was spent by a number of her friends when Miss Lucille Dupre celebrated her sixth anniversary on Saturday last with a little party.

WELSH SINGERS LOSE MEMBER IN LUSITANIA WRECK

Sylvester Rowling, musical critic of the New York Evening World has the following to say of the concert given by "The Gwent Welsh Male Singers" in Aeolian Hall of New York City.

The Gwent Welsh Male Singers scored another success last night at Aeolian Hall. A large audience enjoyed their lovely singing and demanded several extra numbers. The name Gwent is Welsh for Monmouthshire the county in Wales from which the singers come.

"Wholesome of the choruses were in Welsh, far the greater part were in English, and admirably sung they were too. The individual voices were of excellent quality and the choir disclosed splendid union, fine precision and balance, clean cut attack and delightful nuance. This is the same organization which will appear to-night at the Elite Theatre with the exception of the change of personnel occasioned by the Lusitania disaster in which several of the singers and former conductor Mr. George F. Davis, lost their lives. Mr. David Johns one of the most successful conductors in Wales succeeds Mr. Davies. An entire new program is a feature of their engagement to-night.

LAURIER MAY RESIGN OVER BILINGUALISM

Leader Of The Opposition Hints This On Question In House

(Special To The Star) OTTAWA, May 9.—A crisis which has arisen in the Liberal party over the bilingual issue may cause the resignation of the leader of the Opposition.

The trouble arises over the introduction of a resolution on the question in the House this morning which resolution is not in accord with Sir Wilfred's views on the subject.

HUN KULTUR SINKS WHITE STAR LINER

Loaded With Munitions From New York Vessel Torpedoed Two Days From Shore

(Special To The Star) LONDON, May 9.—Lloyd's registry announces that the great liner "Cymric", of 13100 tons which was built for the White Star Line in 1898, at Belfast, and used ever since in that company's atlantic service, was torpedoed without warning this morning early, when within two days of the English coast. The vessel was apparently waiting for the Hun U-boat, and was sunk without any warning being given to those on board, all of whom, however were saved. She was bound from New York to England with munitions of war.

The Wainwright Hotel annex should see a "full house" tomorrow evening when those interested in the matter are asked to be present at eight o'clock to discuss the organizing of a baseball club for the season.

Having finished her spring term in the military department of the Fraser store, Miss Morton has again retired into private life.

Tomorrow (Thursday) will see Mrs J. H. Ward and Mrs R. R. Bowman receiving, while the ladies "at home" on Friday will be Mrs J. L. Gerow and Mrs H. G. Williams. Mrs. Thomas Murphy will be receiving on Monday next.

BRITAIN MUST CONSERVE POWER AND ECONOMISE

A pamphlet has been issued by the Parliamentary War Savings Committee in Britain entitled "Why We Must Save and How." As it is intended to illustrate the possibilities of saving by all classes there are necessarily many hints calculated to be of value the world over and especially in afflicted countries.

In the first place it combats the notion that those people who spend all they make are necessarily benefiting trade. On the contrary, those who save wisely advantage themselves, their neighbors and their country. Spending money on luxury gives a certain amount of employment, but nothing like the employment that investment in desirable and necessary articles does. The best way to convey the meat in this useful and timely pamphlet would seem to be to summarize its contents in brief, emphatic sentences, as follows:—Thrift is a national duty, so that the money thus saved may be invested with the government. The more goods we buy at home and the more we make and send abroad the richer the country becomes. Economy and good digestion are aided by never eating bread that is not at least 24 hours old. Ten per cent. of the cost of bread would be saved by rigidly adhering to this simple practice.

Geo. Morrow, of Edgerton, motored over on Friday last in his new McLaughlin automobile. She sure is a dandy, George!

SOLDIER BOYS GET ENGLAND IN SAFETY

Lieut-Col. McKinney in Charge Of The Sixty-Sixth Battalion

(Special To The Star) OTTAWA, May 9.—Official announcement is made through the press censor's department that the 63rd and 66th Battalions, which left Edmonton early last month have arrived safely in England.

It will be remembered that the 63rd departed from the city exactly a week previously to the 66th Battalion leaving. Both regiments left Halifax on the same boat. Colonel McKinney was with the 66th Battalion on their arrival.

G. T. Pump House Prey To Flames Monday Morning

H. Richardson Has Lucky Escape Although Hands Are Burned

Luckily situated down in a hollow, and away from the more thickly settled portion of the town, the G. T. P. pump-house was the scene of an alarming conflagration on Monday morning last about 9.30 a. m.

At the time of the actual outbreak, Harry Richardson, the man who was firing the boilers was down the well at a depth of approximately 150 feet from the surface, and hearing a strange crackling above him at once came to the top of the orifice, only to learn that the interior of the structure was a seething mass of flame.

He at once gave the alarm, but the whole of the building being in such a dry state, and somewhat oil soaked, by the time the fire-lighting apparatus had reached the scene, the place was past redemption, although a box car, which had previously been unloaded of its supply of coal for the two boilers in the pump-house was very shortly afterwards drawn out of the danger zone by a yard engine. The car was burning merrily, but the firemen soon had a chemical engine at work on this, and later it was completely doused by a stream from the roundhouse. Only the trucks and underbody was saved from destruction, however.

The fire in the pump-house was so fierce that even the escaping steam from the boilers was inadequate to make headway against the flames, and the whole cauldron of fire had to burn itself out, nothing at all being salvaged; and by the time the two tall smoke stacks fell in the wreck was complete.

The laddies worked with a will upon receiving the alarm, but the distance to be covered and the high wind prevailing at the time gave them no chance at all to be on hand in time to do anything towards checking the outbreak. Arrangements are being made to reconstruct this most necessary adjunct to the yards without delay, and it is pleasing to state that the flames at the pump-house although having such a narrow escape, is unharmed except for some painful burns on his hands.

MISSIONERS HOLD CROWDED MEETINGS THEATRE SUNDAY

On Sunday last the Gilbert and Maclean evangelists addressed crowded audiences at all three of the services held in the Elite Theatre, this being their last Sabbath services before leaving town.

At the men's mass meeting held in the afternoon, a large number listened with rapt attention to an able address on "Birthrights of Canadian Men," and in the evening a delivery by Mr. Gilbert on "Five Men on the Wrong Road" received a close hearing.

During the latter service Mrs. Thos. Murphy delighted the congregation with an effective rendering of "His Loving Thought" being accompanied by Mrs. Barthold Fraser who presided at the piano during the whole evening.

FRIDAY MAY 12 IS ARBOR DAY

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board which was postponed from last week will be held in the school on Friday evening next.

BALL CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED THURSDAY

A meeting of the towns-people will be held in the annex of the Wainwright Hotel tomorrow (Thursday) evening to discuss ways and means for the organization of a Wainwright Baseball Club for the ensuing season.

NEW BAND MAKING FINE HEADWAY

Under the leadership of Mr. G. H. Beaudry, the new band which is being organized in town is making great strides, and when it is remembered that the aggregation is mostly young beginners the results being obtained are all the more worthy of praise. There are now no less than twenty-six pieces in the composition, and each one of these has made up his mind that "The Wainwright Town Band" shall be an accomplished fact, and will prove this when they appear on July 1st, which is a point they are trying hard to gain. Practices are held bi-weekly, and from appearances the leader is going to be congratulated "alright, alright."

The fine-weather hours these days are being taken full advantage of by the lovers of tennis, practice in this sport being freely indulged in.

VERDUN FIGHT BELIEVED END OF STALEMATE

German Attack on Verdun is Regarded Among War Students
As the Final Chapter of Bloodshed Which Will be Unparalleled in The History of The World

Daring French Aviator

Captured foe 'Plane With a Grappling Hook

Lieut. Le Bourhis, the first French dead of wounds to use a parachute, is dead of wounds received in an aerial encounter in the vicinity of Verdun. The aviator, who was a private at the outbreak of the war, was killed by the machine gun and the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

His latest known exploit was the capture of a large German aeroplane with a grappling hook in August of 1916. He thus became the first incident in a letter to a friend:

"I had been flying for hours dragging a grappling hook at the end of a rope. I saw a large German plane suddenly a very large black aeroplane with white crosses appeared."

men fell back, but not before the machine had killed three of our men and wounded two others.

The second line of German eutons came fearfully on, mounting their machine guns, to fall in front of us.

The third line of Germans followed the second. Those who withstood the first attack were now left behind. Desperate hand-to-hand battling ensued. In some places the Germans remained in place; in others they were driven out.

At some points the fighting bordered on a close-quarters struggle. The British machine carried bombs, French and German alike, downstreet by street. At other points the British troops fished the bodies out of the water and gave them burial.

In the history of modern-European history that compares with Verdun was the equally desperate battle at Arras, where the British lost more than half of 12,000 casualties, put 26,000 of Marlborough's British hours de combat.

A look got him, and he swung at the end of my line like a toy.

"I'll tell you for few minutes," I said, "that I'm still alive."

Then, my machine rolled on one wing to the right, and another to the left. The engine stopped, at 14,000 feet, the propeller whirled.

"I caught glimpses of deep trenches and a sinister breath," he said. "The machine was so close to me, the machine itself, balanced at the end of the rope. I began to fall as it did." He turned his head, and the machine turned back. "I was falling like a stone."

"The Germans are losing much ground," he was suddenly and loudly injured. He was unable to explain the manner of his escape from the machine, but he was certain of the probability that the cable attached to the German aeroplane tightened as he was falling and saved the form of the descent.

United French trenches. The glory of victory went to Marlborough before the French and the British. The following message to Louis XIV. at Paris:

"O God, thy goodness should outdo us to be another such battle, your majesty may consider your news annihilated."

Military experts are beginning to agree, after Verdun, that the killing of the French was the winning blow, and can only be terminated by retreat.

The French prisoners who saw the French retirement from Ornes, a village near the German front line, "shudder when I look back at it. The fatalities suffered in close ranks was as if a man had been passing through the German ranks with a machine gun. The shells exploded and legs

THE VICTORY

A City Built in Great Britain in a Short Time

Talk about "mushroom" cities in the West!

Long ago, the city of the miraclous towns.

Little old Great Britain has all such things, and the city of the miraclous towns.

It was determined by the Iron Man at the war department that the great war was to be a business, and the main business for many months to come. And so the government set to work to build a city of the future to be devoted itself entirely to the war.

The order went out. So did workmen, thousands of them. And then a marvellously short time a new city was built and equipped, every building with motives.

we rose into the air. Odds and ends of the German armor were scattered in a small sector and two sections, a mere nothing, they fell by hundreds. The German Brandenburg troops in their brave assault on Fort Douaumont were annihilated.

"About 8 o'clock the Germans began to advance. They thickly massed their armor in the center of the front ground as they came on 'double quick.' Suddenly from the heights on either side of the front line, and on either side our batteries, dozens of them, crashed into action. A German machine gun was the first to open fire. A shell fell I saw a momentary glimpse of snow on the ground."

"Suddenly the curtains of cloud seemed to rise as on the stage and I saw the German armor in all its glory. Night was falling. They were pouring down upon the German armor immense herds of cattle. Douaumont was theirs. The German machine guns. We lost all sense of fear. Our perilously, thrown on the dense masses of the enemy, and when they were shot down, they opened the way for the French. They could plainly see the havoc wrought by the French machine guns, and they were not far from being cut off, on the straggling edge of the corpses or comrades."

As the day wears on, says at least one of the veterans of German advance indefinitely against the position. The French were not only attacking, but they were attacking the French. Confronted by overwhelming numbers, fell back a few feet, and then they were ordered to give up their secret, by the other secret, except by the back.

Immediately the French command was given to stop. The French command was stopped because of the danger of its momentum. French troops were at the front of the French line, and the French dashed back.

The oncoming Germans were taken by surprise. The French were taken by surprise. The Germans broke and fled.

It was this counter-offensive which prevented a disastrous break in the main French line of defense at Verdun.

An artilleryman had a gruesome accident. His battery remained intact for a long time. He was killed in the first day that followed the attack, was given.

The day was given again. In the dim light, what appeared to be advancing troops were hurled by fire. The French were not far from being cut off, on the straggling edge of the corpses or comrades.

Still the enemy failed to advance or retreat.

Daylight explained the mystery of the day. It was a long day from the first day that followed the attack, was given again. In the dim light, what appeared to be advancing troops were hurled by fire. The French were not far from being cut off, on the straggling edge of the corpses or comrades.

It is as though the country had said:

KEEP CLEAN AS WELL AS CLEAN UP

NOTWITHSTANDING THAT REAL good work was accomplished yesterday by the citizens of our town in holding the annual "Clean-up" and sticking to it, it is well to ever keep in mind the fact that without the "Keep clean" portion of the slogan, things will soon revert back to their old state of untidy squalor. It was a busy scene the stranger would have witnessed if visiting us during this annual "broom, brush and pail" contest, but in most cases the result has fully repaid the effort expended. Seeing that disease is bred in 84 p.c. of cases by filth and dirt, we can compliment ourselves that by our labors we have reduced to a minimum the risks attendant upon a hot, dry summer, when—if the right and favorable conditions present themselves—the typhoid germ stalks abroad through the land, and attendant evils follow closely in its trail. Now is the time also to remember that the common house fly is getting into trim for his insidious summer campaign, and therefore it will not be out of place to remind our readers that the only good fly is a dead fly—and he's got to be killed off good and early at that. So let us all keep after the untidy backyards, and dark pest corners, and S.W.A.T. the Fly.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTION OFFERED BY DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

NOW THAT THE REGULAR FACTORY patron is getting to think more and more about cow-testing, preparing in many localities to take weights and samples as soon as the first cow freshens, it would seem opportune for more owners to consider this matter seriously. If a larger and better milk and cream supply is wanted, if reduced expenses are sought, with a larger output of better quality, cow-testing will have to be indulged in by every farmer in the country; for in this way the producer must benefit.

The assistance from the dairy division of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa is just as liberal as in former years. Where a cow-testing association is organized, and a thoroughly competent person will do the testing of milk samples from individual cows once a month, supplies of preservative tablets and sulphuric acid will be sent free of charge, together with the necessary blank forms. Beyond this the payment of five cents per sample tested will be made. Cheese and butter makers will do well to note these facts and act promptly. Reports and pamphlets on the subject are available at the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

WAR BOOK OF 1916 SHOWS HOW TO SAVE

IT WOULD PERHAPS be too much to say that the War Book issued by the Department of Agriculture is the most complete work ever published entirely devoted to the subject of which it treats, yet in variety it certainly is. Besides the general matter brought together by the Commissioner of Agriculture, some seventy other experts have contributed to its 250 pages, including several Federal department ministers, and professors at Ontario and other agricultural colleges.

While the statistics shown give the production of the whole world last year, as well as that of Canada, the book is a long way from being confined to figures. On the contrary it contains page upon page of textual information, instruction and sound advice appertaining to its title—"Production and Thrift." Not alone will the farmer benefit by a study of this book, but every householder and citizen can profit by its counsel, which is embodied in the motto—"Produce more and save more; make your labor efficient; save material from waste; and spend your money wisely."

UNITED STATES TO ASSIST WITH SETTLERS AND LABORERS

A MEMORANDUM from the Superintendent of Immigration, at Ottawa, states that, owing to the shortage of agricultural laborers consequent upon the absence of so many men on military service, the Government is making strong efforts to bring in from the United States settlers for the West, and farm laborers to assist in the Western Provinces. Under present circumstances there is small prospect of the production this year being equal to that of 1915 and it is absolutely necessary that labour should be found if the prosperity of the country is not to suffer.

Says Colonel Roosevelt in "Fear God and Take Your Own Part," his latest book: "Canada has faced the time that tries men's souls, and with gallant heroism she has risen level to the time's needs. Mighty days have come to her, and she has been equal to the mighty days. Greatness comes only through labor and courage, through the iron willingness to face sorrow and death, the tears of women and the blood of men, if only thereby it is possible to serve a lofty ideal. Canada has won that honorable place among the nations of the past and the present, which can only come to the people whose sons are willing and able to dare and do and die at need."

C. H. Gosman was in town from Edmonton over the weekend.

Mrs. Bobbington and family left town on Friday to join her husband who is now located at Calder shops. They will reside at West Edmonton. Miss Dorothy will continue to stay in town for the present.

Just who was the joke on? On Friday morning a great scurrying of the fire boys took place when smoke was seen issuing from the office building of H. V. Fieldhouse, but it was occasioned by a rag lying on too hot a stove. It made a good practice, however, and the attention given the alarm was real smart.

Production and Thrift

CANADA'S CALL FOR SERVICE AT HOME

Produce More and Save More before. Grow food for the men who are fighting for you. The Allies need all the food that you can produce. Every little helps. You are responsible for your own work. If you cannot produce as much as you would like, produce all you can. Work with the right spirit. Put fighting energy into your effort and produce now when it counts. The more you produce the more you can save. Producing and saving are war-service.

Make Your Labour Efficient

In war-time do not waste time and energy on unimportant and unprofitable work. Economize labour. Put off unproductive work till after the war, and, if possible, help in producing something needed now. Let us not waste labour. Canada needs it all. If possible help to feed the Allies. Make your backyard a productive garden. Cultivate it with a will. Make your labour count for as much as possible.

Do Not Waste Materials

There should be no waste in war-time. Canada could pay the annual interest on her war expenditure out of what we waste on our farms, in our factories, in our homes. Every pound of food saved from waste is as good as a pound of increased production. The way for a nation to save is for every individual to save. France is strong today because of thrift in time of peace. The men and women of Great Britain are not "doing" but are learning to "do without."

Spend Your Money Wisely

Practise economy in the home by eliminating luxuries. Wasting our dollars here weakens our strength at the Front. Your savings will help Canada to finance the war. Save your money for the next Dominion War issue. There can be no better investment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Goddard spent the week end in Wainwright.

Our school opened on Monday last with Miss Livingstone in charge. There are over a dozen in attendance already.

Both G. Babb and H. Myers are spending a busy time these days on the road with their autos, but owing to the mud-holes encountered during their drives, they have doubts as to whether to carry along a block and tackle, or tie a team on behind! Both George and Harry get lots of fun, anyway.

Jack Allinson is out this season with "Charming Barab" running the route for J. G. Clark of Clark Manor.

George Truener was a business visitor to town over the week end.

JANEY CANUCK SPEAKS ON SOCIAL EVILS

Mrs. Murphy, of Edmonton, who is perhaps more widely known from her hand writings over the non-de-plume of "Janey Canuck," recently uttered some home truths when she lectured upon, The causes, Effects, and Some Remedies of Social Evils.

Mrs. Murphy said there was a great need for leaders at the present. She said—We have plenty of people who will be leaders: We want women who will be strong and gentle in their hearts, and steady in their imaginations; women that will not be self centred, or class centred, but world centred. We need women so badly for leadership that if we do not get them, we will have to invent them.

"We want women who will study immigration and emigration: women who will lead the followers."

Mrs. Murphy then went on to tell what the women must expect when they take the position as leaders. "You must expect to be misrepresented and misunderstood; expect to be told that you are standing in the limelight. In the contest, guilty and the innocent are alike ridiculed. It is only in after years that the honors come." The foreign problem was then considered, the speaker claiming that we need women of constructive ability who will grapple with this subject.

The social problem, she said is a complex one, and there is no great panacea for the social ills for which we suffer to-day.

The evils we have to contend with are old enough, but they appear in new forms. People suffer to-day because of individual sin and ignorance, and of these the greatest is ignorance.

The unemployable problem, and white slavery are directly due to poverty. "We do not need to deplore immoral conditions until we try to eliminate the cause. Poverty is not the lack of things; it is the fear, the dread of want."

In concluding her speech, Mrs. Murphy referred briefly to the present regulations which debar women from securing homesteads, saying she considered that now more than ever they should work for amendments so as to permit women to attain this privilege.
